CONGRESS PLANS AID TO FARMERS RIOT IN MEXICO CITY FATAL TO SEVENTEEN

WATER FAMINE CAUSES DRIVE ON CITY HALL

Federal Building Objective of
2,000 Rioters Last Night

ALDERMEN ATTACKED

What Started Out in Peaceful
Protest Against Conditions
Ends in Bloodshed

(By the Associated Press.)

Mexico City, Dec. 1.—Federal troops guarded a badly battered municipal building today while the pitched battle between the police and a mob which attempted to storm the building last night. The death list as a result of the fighting stood at 17 early today, while 18 persons are known to have been seriously injured and 38 slightly hurt. It was thought that a closer check might result in further casualties.

The city, after a night of wild excitement, found its main plaza before the municipal building a shambles of broken glass, timber and stone—evidence of the anger of the mob which forced its way into the building half an hour after the police rifles had taken their toll.

The trouble which lasted for more than six hours, started when a crowd marched to the city hall to protest against the aldermen who are held responsible for conditions leading to the water famine. The demonstration was intended by the labor unions that organized it as a peaceful protest, and several hundred persons paraded the downtown street before they proceeded to the hall to voice their protest. Sentiments against the city government. Those protesters were reinforced along the route and when the municipal building was reached, the crowd numbered more than 2,000 persons.

Yelling invectives against the aldermen, the mob gave emphasis to its words by hurling stones and other missiles. When one leader suggested the hall be entered, the demonstrators made a concerted rush forward. The police guards met their advance by firing their rifles over the heads of the crowd, which, however, did not check its course. Then the police aimed their rifles point blank and fired with deadly effect.

Staggered by the bullets the demonstrators retired carrying with them their dead and wounded.

But in half an hour they returned and several of their number, breaking windows, entered the hall and began to set fire to its contents. Valuable documents, some of which dated back several centuries, were tossed into the streets.

By this time the federal troops had arrived but the intruders were not ejected before the building had been fired in many places and the furniture wrecked. A line of hose which the fire department was able to bring into play despite the water shortage, was successful in holding back the crowds outside.

Several sporadic attempts to continue the demonstration were made in the succeeding hours but when the demonstrators returned to the hall they found a cordon of soldiers and contented themselves with jeering and hooting officials in general including some members of the federal government.

County Attorney Defies Governor On Dry Issue

(By the Associated Press.)
Tulsa, Okla., Dec. 1.—Still maintaining "that the people don't want prohibition," but taking a slightly different tack in his defiance of the governor and the attorney general's department, County Attorney W. F. Seaver, met Assistant State Attorney Clifford W. King here today to explain his dismissal of cases against alleged liquor law violators.

County Attorney Seaver said he welcomed the visit of the assistant attorney general and would give him every assistance in his investigation. Two days ago Seaver challenged the whole Attorney General's Staff to come to Tulsa and see "what they could do about it."

Seaver explained today that he dismissed a number of liquor charges pending in the state prohibitory cases, under which he claimed it was almost impossible to obtain convictions.

HERE IS A NEW KIND OF FORUM

Philadelphia Civic Experiment Success

FOUNDER OF FORUM IDEA

EDWARD BOK

By NEA Service.

Philadelphia, Dec. 1.—Olga Samaroff was playing the piano on the stage. The great Academy of Music in Philadelphia was crowded to the doors. Three thousand persons were in the auditorium, and over 160 sat on the stage. Not a person in that vast audience as much as moved under the spell of the wizardry of the playing until at the close, and then as with one accord a perfect storm of applause echoed throughout the building. Player and audience were in perfect accord.

Only the night before the same crowded house had greeted a demonstration of radio, and two evenings previous Mark Sullivan, the Washington correspondent, had thrilled the audience with a talk on the Turkish-Grecian situation.

A New York man had come over, and as he sat in the great audience he said: "I don't know but that this is the greatest thing that Edward Bok has done."

"And yet," said the friend at his side, a "a year ago you said this could not be done in New York, let alone Philadelphia."

"I know it," was the answer "and if I had not seen it I still would not believe it."

Year Proves Its Worth.

It was the Philadelphia Forum in action! And yet a year ago, even in Philadelphia, it was believed it could not be done. And Edward Bok was told so. But he merely smiled, got four organizations together, "sold" them the idea partially if not fully, prepared a program and within six weeks the membership had leaped up to over four thousand and the announcement went forth that no further members could be received. For the moment that the prepared budget is covered by the memberships, the books are closed for the season and a waiting list for the following season is started.

Last year was the first year. Four thousand five hundred members were received at $10 per year, for the budget was increased to $72,000; the membership was raised to $15 per year, and 300 reserved seats were sold at $25 per year. Again the membership list was closed a few days after the first lecture was given.

There are 75 events given from October to May, so that each event costs a member 30 cents. A varied program covering the entire range of an intelligent and well-ordered life is given. In music, for instance, Olga Samaroff, Josef Hofmann, the Philadelphia Orchestra, the San Carlo Grand Opera Company, the Bach Choir are given. In literature, William Lyon Phelps gives seven talks on the books of the day with readings. The foremost authors, like Sinclair Lewis, Hugh Walpole, Irving Bacheller, are all given.

Varied Programs Are Given.

High Winds and Snow Reported
Over North Dakota
And Minnesota

MUCH DAMAGE DONE

Gales in Twin Cities Break
Signs and Windows—Storm
Over Great Lakes

(By the Associated Press.)

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 1.—Interrupted wire communication, delayed train service, half a dozen persons injured and damage which, probably will run into several hundred thousand dollars was the toll revealed today as the result of freak Thanksgiving weather in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and western Wisconsin. High winds and snow was reported in various sections of the Northwest. Rain fell in Minnesota and parts of South Dakota, while most of North Dakota was blanketed with several inches of snow. A gale was sweeping Lake Superior.

Hundred of telephone and telegraph and power wire poles were down especially in the vicinity of the twin cities and in and about Aberdeen, S. D. Near the latter place 200 poles belonging to the Dakota Central Telephone Company were broken off following sleet, a light snow and winds.

Scores of plate glass windows were smashed and numerous signs fell in Minneapolis and St. Paul. Several persons were hurt by falling signs and in automobile accidents attributed to the storm. An airplane was torn from its moorings near St. Paul and wrecked.

Two freighters were swept out to the harbor at Duluth and a bulletin was posted warning of a further violent storm on Lake Superior. Temperatures dropped considerably.

SEVEN LIVES LOST.

Calumet, Mich., Dec. 1.—Captain Naason Bernard and six members of the crew of the Canadian steamer Maplehurst lost their lives early today when the ship broke up a mile west of Portage Lake Canal during a heavy gale. Nine others of the crew were rescued, one at a time, jumping from the bridge into a life boat.

According to the coast guard service Captain Bernard and the others lost their lives because they declined to jump from the bridge.

The rescue was effected in the teeth of a gale of hurricane proportions. The life-boat ran along side of the ship repeatedly, only to be washed back. The men were taken off one at a time, jumped from the bridge into the life boat.

The Maplehurst was bound from Loraine, Ohio, to Port Arthur with 1800 tons of coal.

SHIP GROUND.

Duluth, Minn., Dec. 1.—With a 48-mile an hour southwest gale raging early today local mariners advised of the wreck of the Canadian steamer Maplehurst, asserted the belief that the ship grounded because of the low water at the upper end of portage Lake ship Canal, swung and beaten to pieces by the waves. In that even only masterful work by the coast guard could have rescued members of the crew, mariners declared.

The Maplehurst was a steel ship, 235 feet long and 37 feet wide. She was owned by the Canadian Steamship Lines of Montreal. According to a message received at the local United States engineer's office, the wreck occurred at 3 a. m.

J. R. MANN HOUSE WHIP PASSES AWAY

Career of Illinois Congressman
Ends Suddenly—Death
Due to Pneumonia

URGENT FOR SPEAKER

Declined, However, to Allow
His Name to be Used Again
By Friends

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 1.—Death last night ended the legislative career of Representative James R. Mann of the second Illinois district, long rated as a giant of the house.

Returning here two weeks ago for the opening of the special session of congress Mr. Mann who had served his people for upwards of a quarter century, took part in the preliminary work of the house. A week ago he was forced to stay at home because of a cold, which he failed to shake off. His condition at first was not regarded serious, and it was not until yesterday afternoon after pneumonia had developed that it became alarming. Early in the evening he rallied, but there was a change for the worse as the night wore on. Shortly before midnight with his wife and his physicians at the bedside, the veteran of many a congressional battle died peacefully.

Counting on his strength for a possible house upheaval when the Republican majority was cut to less than a score in the last election his friends again set to work quietly in his behalf but the Illinois member never would accept the speakership or the leadership quickly ended the move when he heard of it by retreating what he said then. That it would have required a powerful effort to beat him if he had gone out for either of these places was the opinion freely held in the house.

Funeral services will be held in the house of representatives chamber tomorrow afternoon, after which the body will be taken to Chicago for burial. The funeral party will leave Washington at 10 p. m. tomorrow, arriving in Chicago Sunday.

WINTER WORK UNSATISFACTORY

Winter work on roads practiced last year in North Dakota did not prove satisfactory, and the state highway commission will not seek to have work done on federal aid projects this winter, H. O. Mr. Wray said. The state of Minnesota is planning upon extensive gravel surfacing work this winter.

August is the healthiest month in the year except for very young children.

ROCKEFELLER'S NEPHEW DIES FROM PNEUMONIA

For Several Years Treasurer
Of Standard Oil Company

New York, Dec. 1.—Members of his family today attributed the death last night of Wm. Goodell Rockefeller, son of the late William Rockefeller, to a cold contracted at the Yale-Harvard football game last Saturday.

Avery Rockefeller, a freshman at Yale, said his uncle had complained of a cold soon after he and his party left the Yale bowl. Last Monday Mr. Rockefeller left his office complaining of a chill and his physician ordered him to bed. The illness developed into pneumonia, and by Wednesday his condition had become critical.

At his bedside last night were several members of his family, not including his wife who is in Europe. For several years prior to 1911 when he resigned, Mr. Rockefeller was treasurer of the Standard Oil Company of New York. Since then, however, he had withdrawn from many of his business connections. At the time of his death he was listed on the board of directors of only seven corporations.

Mr. Rockefeller was born in this city in 1870. He graduated from Yale in 1892 and later he married Elsie Sullivan, daughter of the late James Sullivan, president of the National City bank.

He is survived besides his widow, by four sons, Wm. A. Godfrey S. James S., and J. Sterling Rockefeller, and a daughter, Miss Almira G. Rockefeller.

SURVEY OF CONDITIONS CONSIDERED

President Harding Holds Conference Upon Agricultural Status

TO USE FARM BOARD

Proposes to Increase Loan Limit from $10,000 To $25,000

(By the Associated Press.)

Washington, Dec. 1.—The administration had ready today a definite program of legislation for the financial relief of farmers formulated in agreement with senate leaders on both the agriculture and banking committees and to be pressed with their support at the short session of congress. Approved at a conference yesterday between President Harding, Secretary Wallace and 15 Republican senators headed by Senator Lodge, majority senator leader, and Senator Watson of Indiana, who has been making an active survey of the question, the program contemplates utilization of the federal farm loan board as the agency for extension of larger and more liberal credits, both as to interest rates and time, to meet the present agricultural necessity.

The relief plan designed to reach the small farmer as well as the large cattle raiser and grain grower was outlined in a statement following the conference by Secretary Wallace and Senator Lodge. It is proposed by use of the farm loan board as the medium of government relief to make it available to the thousands of small farmers who need it and who, in the opinion of those at the conference have not shared as have the larger grain and cattle producers in the credit relief afforded by the war finance corporation because of the limitations under which it is operated.

Specifically the plan proposes an increase in the maximum loan limit of the federal farm banks from $10,000 to $25,000, amendment of the farm loan act to provide for the redaction of agricultural production and marketing paper, with a maximum credit period of three years and creation of a division in the farm loan system to deal specifically with this class of credits. Provision for the voluntary creation of livestock and agricultural credit associations to deal primarily with livestock loans also is proposed.

CLEAN-UP FOR CIVIC DRIVE IS PLANNED

Committee Decides to Push Membership Over the 500 Mark

The "clean-up committee" of the Commercial club has concluded to renew the solicitation in an effort to raise the membership from 471 to over 500 by calling upon persons who were not reached in the big drive.

The committee was impelled to take the action in part by an incident Wednesday. Two business men on a Russian relief drive called upon a business man who wanted to know why he had not been given an opportunity to join the Commercial club. He was given it, and paid a year's membership in advance.

The "clean-up committee" is composed of S. W. Corwin, chairman, Hal Dobler, B. O. Ward, B. M. Dunn, Fred Grady and Spencer Boise.

FRENCH DENY RUHR SEIZURE IS IMPENDING

Policy on Reparations Is Outlined by Ambassador Here

Washington, Dec. 1.—A sweeping denial of published reports from Paris that the French are contemplating entering the Ruhr valley has come directly from Premier Poincaré, to the French embassy here.

Ambassador Jusserand received a cablegram today from the French premier directing him to state that there was not the slightest foundation in fact for the report, that the French government was contemplating a forcible entry into the Ruhr.

The French ministerial policy toward Germany, as incorporated in the plan for occupation of the Ruhr industrial district and control of the Rhineland, appears to be based on three primary aims:

First—The government must satisfy the French people now that the German obligations toward France are not to be allowed to drift indefinitely without government action.

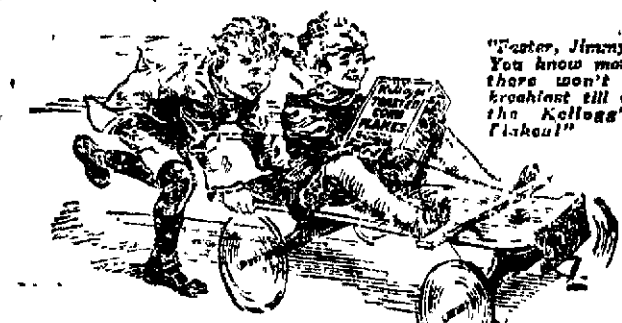

Second—The French government, by its patience and its repeated delays will show Great Britain and America and neutral countries that it has not acted hastily or imperially.

Third—That if during the next six or eight weeks there should be no prospect of any workable plans of payments being adopted by Germany alone, or with the assistance of allied or neutral countries, then France will be compelled to act.

The cabinet examined the plan at its meeting yesterday, discussed it and generally approved of it, but did not take a vote on it for the reason, it is explained, that there is no purpose or occasion to act on the plan immediately.

VIGILANTES, OIL MEN IN HARD BATTLE

Reports Say Several Are Killed in Oil Field Fight Today

Monroe, La., Dec. 1.—A number of men were wounded and several are reported dying following the fight between masked men and oil field workers near Smackover, Ark., last night according to a long distance telephone message received from Eldorado by authorities here this morning.

Before leaving for the scene of the battle with a posse of deputies this morning, Sheriff Ed. Haper of Camden, over the telephone, declared all wires were cut in the Smackover region and he was without communication with the 200 hooded vigilantes and oil field workers and gamblers.

Persons reaching Eldorado, Ark., from the Texas Smackover creek declared over telephones shortly after 9 o'clock this morning that there were no fatalities among the "vigilantes" but that a number of the oil field men were wounded. They reported the battle which was precipitated by the tarring and feathering of a man.

JUDGE MORRIS GIVEN GUARD

Life Is Threatened Because of Stiff Sentences

Minneapolis, Dec. 1.—Page Morris, veteran federal judge whose long prison and jail terms for Volstead law violations have attracted wide attention and who was threatened with death in anonymous letters three weeks ago, is being guarded day and night to prevent an attempt on his life, United States Marshal Ed. Rustad said today.

"Every precaution is being taken," Marshal Rustad said, "to prevent disgruntled bootleggers or moonshiners from carrying out threats, made against Judge Morris' life."

An armed deputy marshal recently assigned to duty in Minneapolis and not known to prisoners who have appeared before Judge Morris accompanies the judge everywhere, the marshal said. So far no attempt has been made to carry out the death threats, he said.

Hotel officials have detailed a house detective who guards the Morris suite throughout the night, until he is relieved in the morning by the deputy, Rustad said.

When asked about the guard, Judge Morris, dismissed the matter with a characteristic wave of the hand and declined to make any comment.

CORN BELT FARMER URGES COMMISSION

(By the Associated Press)
St. Louis, Mo., Dec. 1.—Plans are under way for a meeting of farmers organizations in the corn belt states at which a plan for creation of a governmental commission to fix prices on agricultural products will be discussed. William Hirth of Columbia, Mo., editor of a farm publication, declared here today. The plan was endorsed at a meeting of the Missouri Farm Association here yesterday. Hirth suggested the following plan:

"First—That congress appoint a commission which shall equitably correlate the price of wheat, pork, beef and cotton to the current price of merchandise, freight rates, taxes and the wage scales of organized labor."

"Second—That congress then raise the tariff on the above commodities to protect the prices created by such commission against imports on a lower price level."

"Third—That congress create a governmental machine which shall take over the surplus of each of the above commodities at whatever the world price may be—thus providing a powerful deterrent against overproduction and also protecting the government against loss."

VOLUNTEERS ENTITLED TO COMPENSATION

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 1.—Volunteer firemen who may receive injuries while performing their duties are entitled to the same consideration in the settlement of their compensation claims as regular industrial time employees, the state industrial commission ruled today, in the case of Armand J. Loken against the city of Crookston and the Travelers' Insurance Company.

Loken, a member of the volunteer fire department of Crookston, in which capacity he received $2 for each call, was injured last August, during a fire. The insurance company contested his claim for the maximum compensation during his period of disability, alleging that that insurance as $2 a week was the average wage he received from the city, he was entitled to only two thirds of that amount during his disability.

The commission held that "the injury which he sustained prevented him from earning his total weekly wage," and that "compensation is primarily and fundamentally intended to provide an indemnity measured by the wage loss which the injury causes."

ACCUSED MAN GETS NEW TRIAL

Decorah, Iowa, Dec. 1.—A new trial was granted to B. F. Kneekern, Castalia, Iowa, cattle buyer, by Judge H. E. Taylor in district court here today. The ruling sets aside the conviction of Kneekern for the killing of Irene Van Brocklin, here last April. Charles Van Brocklin and his wife, Irene, were slain with a shotgun in their cabin near Frankville in Winnebago county last December 11.

In his ruling Judge Taylor says that he is "of the opinion that the defendant did not have a fair and impartial trial, and granted to him under the law."

CONTRACTS FOR 150 MILES OF ROAD WORK LET

St. Paul, Minn., Dec. 1.—Contracts for about 150 miles of new graveling and other improvements under a winter work program on Minnesota trunk highway's were awarded tentatively today by Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner. Awards will be made final, the commissioner said, on re-checks of the large number of bids opened yesterday at the highway department.

New winter work prices are nearly 20 per cent below engineer estimates, and compare favorably with those of last year, according to John H. Mullen, assistant commissioner and chief highway engineer.

A new record for wide competition was made, one project bringing sixty separate proposals. Commissioner Babcock said that the much lower prices and other conditions at this letting demonstrated further that with bond issues the state highway program may be speeded up now both advantageously and economically.

LA FOLLETTE CALLS

Senator La Follette has called, and a number have answered. The pronounced "progressive" of the present and next session of Congress are to discuss a program in Washington this week. Among those in attendance will be Senators-elect Shipstead and Frazier. The make-up of the senatorial progressive bloc, dispatches say, is eight Republicans, four Democrats and one farmer-laborite, an impressive and powerful number of votes in swinging the "balance of power." Twenty-six representatives are to meet. The discussions are to be behind closed doors.

It is safe to say that the La Follette group of senators is going to occupy the limelight most of the time in the next congress. The program, as yet is rather indefinite, but it is proposed not merely to obstruct but to propose legislation of far-reaching importance. The two votes of North Dakota in the senate after March 4 next may wield great power in the nation.

La Follette has been a great fighter, but has not been a great leader. His followers have changed frequently for he does not apparently possess those qualities which attract to a man in public life a consistent and unwavering support. Senators Borah and Johnson also are counted as leaders in the progressive bloc, and they, too, are not men, who have been accustomed to follow but rather seek to lead. The progressive bloc has great potentialities but it remains to be seen what it will accomplish.

HIS TROUBLES BEGUN

Percy Trubshaw, who will leave his editorial chair in Valley City to take a seat in the house of representatives here in January, is anxious to have taxes reduced, and his pronounced views have already brought him trouble in his home balliwick. He announced vociferously that "if every institution will ask for just what it really needs and forget about new buildings, it will be better all around," and now the president of the Valley City Normal rises to remark that the economy program of the Valley City school should not be allowed to interfere with the institution getting what it wants from the legislature. Mr. Trubshaw has an admirable purpose and a tough task. If he knows of the disgraceful bartering of votes for slices of the taxpayers' money on the last night of the session of the legislature two years ago, and if he then resolutely continues to wage battle against this principle in the coming session; he will have shown courage and good sense, except, perhaps, in making hay for the next election.

A SURVIVAL

One of the tenets of our political system which seems to thrive heartily under "progressives" as well as "standpats" is that to the victor belongs the reward of political appointments which do not carry much work and do carry comfortable salaries. John Andrews, editor of the Courier-News, is one of the candidates for the Fargo postmastership.

GLAND FAKERS

Beware of patent medicine fakers who, cashing in on the public's interest in monkey glands, are flooding the market with pills and liquid dopes heralded as marvelous glandular "cures."

The arrival of these parasites was to be expected.

Every new discovery is trailed by a mob of unscrupulous fakers who fatten on public credulity.

Thirty-three years ago the original gland doctor, Brown-Sequard, was ridiculed when he came forth with his theories about restoring lost youth and stimulating mentality through the use of endocrine glands.

Today legitimate scientists admit that Brown-Sequard was on the right trail. Wonderful possibilities are opened up. But the public should remember that tinkering with the boy's endocrine glands is in its infancy, and that the treatment is extremely dangerous unless administered by a medical man skilled in this line.

A great deal is already definitely known about the thyroid gland, in the neck—its partial control of intellect and its effect on the general health, particularly heart, nerves and hair.

But thyroid treatment is dangerous except in the hands of a skilled physician. For instance, calming down an over-active thyroid is apt to leave the heart weak.

Of the other glands, much less is known. Their general functions have been defined. But there are few—even among experienced doctors—who can stimulate or calm these other glands without definite perils to the patient.

In the hands of a quack, the endocrine glands are apt to become doors leading to physical breakdown, nervous collapse or downright insanity.

MISTAKE

A postage stamp honoring Columbus is issued by the Leeward Isles of the West Indies. The stamp shows the discoverer of America standing on deck, sighting land through a telescope.

Columbus would not recognize the picture for he died over 100 years before Zachariah Hausen, spectacle maker, devised the first telescope. The discovery was made by his children. They noticed that two lenses, held apart, made a church steeple seem nearer.

COINCIDENCE

National City Bank's market letter makes this comment on the claim by Hoffmann, German economist, that German industrial productivity has dropped 15 per cent under the eight-hour day:

"These figures have a curious coincidence, for they are exactly the figures for the annual (reparations) payments fixed by the London ultimatum of May 1, 1921."

Is it a case of permeditated coincidence, as well as a subconscious reluctance to pay up?

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

MASSACHUSETTS—THERE SHE STANDS!

In the light of the complete official figures, the vote of Massachusetts on the question of a public censorship of motion pictures is highly impressive.

Not only did the people vote overwhelmingly against the censorship—546,919 against and 207,476 for—but the vote against it was a larger figure than the vote for any candidate running in Massachusetts in this election. The successful candidate for governor received 462,277 votes, and his was the highest vote received by any candidate. Yet 83,462 more people voted against censorship than voted for the man who, in winning the governorship, received the highest number of votes cast for any candidate for any office.

The fight was clear and straight-out, and there was no chance for confusion. The legislature had passed a law providing for state censorship of motion pictures. The referendum was invoked, and the people were called upon to decide whether or not this act should be permitted to become a law. By an overwhelming vote, they decided that they did not want it to become a law.

And they didn't mean by that that the roughneck element among motion picture producers should be permitted to do its wickedest; far from it. They simply meant that though bad motion pictures should be cut out and all motion pictures should be improved, censorship is the wrong way to go about it.

And it is the wrong way. There can be no doubt about that. Censorship of art, literature, press, drama or speech is dangerous business. Nobody, somehow, seems to be fit to handle it. There seems to be something about the job of censoring that the opportunity to dictate to other people that robs even "sensible" people of their judgment. Then they do foolish things, ridiculous things, tyrannical things; and even if the process of censorship does eliminate some minor evils, it tends to bring on the greatest evil of them all—arbitrary and tyrannical suppression.

If motion pictures or books get nasty, there are laws in plenty to handle them with, and they ought to be handled ruthlessly. There should be no slightest encouragement for those who would, if they could, make money by pandering. And motion pictures and books that have unworthy ideals should be resisted by the displeasure of an intelligent public. But censorship is not the way.

Neither is a freedom made license by abuse the way. The motion picture industry has had warning enough of tendencies that will make trouble for it if they are indulged. It has taken that warning, and it has organized accordingly with Will H. Hays, a man of good sense and judgment, in charge. That organization has worked much good already, and will work more; especially if it has the support of intelligent patrons of the motion picture. Conditions would have to be pretty bad to be as bad as a censorship, and there is no argument in favor of censoring motion pictures that is not just as strong in favor of censoring books, pictures, newspapers and speech.

The way to fight poor motion pictures is with good motion pictures; and the public can do its part by patronizing good ones and withholding patronage from bad ones.—Duluth Herald.

PROFIT IN IMMIGRATION RESTRICTION

Statistics compiled by the bureau of immigration for the period from Jan. 1, to June 30, 1922, shed an interesting new light upon the effect of our national policy of limiting immigration. Inasmuch as the steel mills, some railroads, and other employers of unskilled labor, have been making various foreign propaganda and domestic sentimentalists are repeatedly attacking the immigration restriction law, it is well to put up a counter barrage when the munitions come to hand, as in this report.

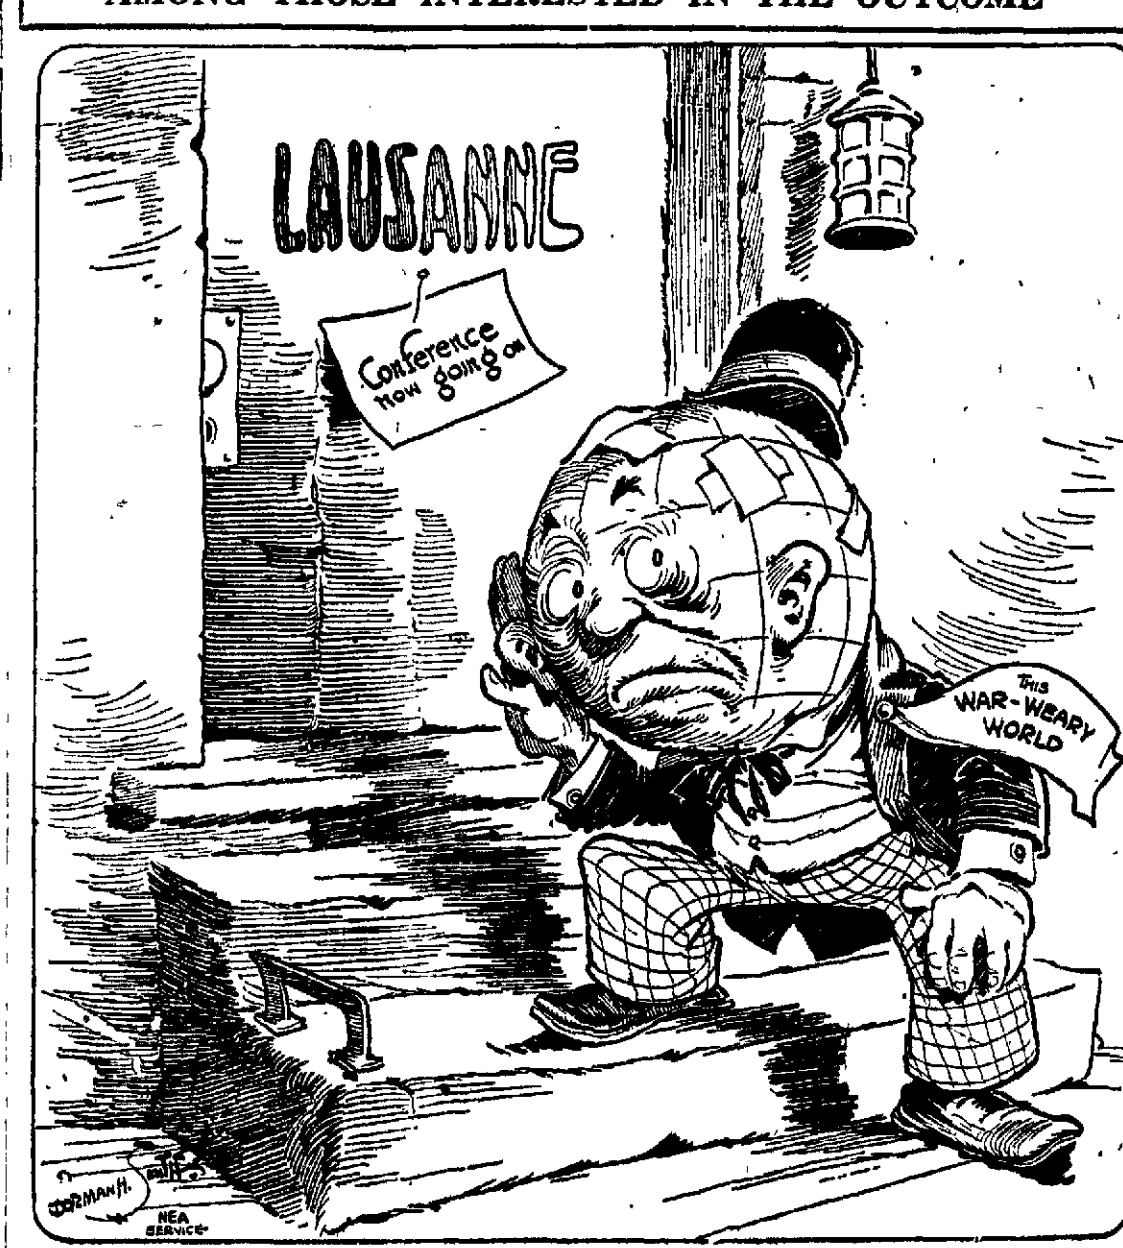

The figures show a much wider distribution of immigrants within the United States than occurred prior to the limitation of immigration. For instance, instead of 50 per cent of immigrants crowding into the slums of New York City, now California, Texas, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Illinois and other states are getting a fair proportion. There is one logical conclusion.

Immigrants now are going where they are needed. That means they are going where they can find work, and where they can be absorbed, not only economically but socially and politically. It promises their Americanization. Many, doubtless, are going into sections occupied by their relatives and friends. Within limits, that is a good thing. They are at last welcomed, and may be taught by countrymen who have themselves profited by primary lessons in Americanization.

If such scattering of immigrants within our borders is due to the 3 per cent restriction law, it should be enough in itself to uphold and perpetuate that law. Even under the 10 per cent restriction, which limits a year's influx of aliens to 3 per cent of the number of their countrymen already within this country, our doors are open to all the foreign blood we can assimilate.

The total quota admissible in the fiscal year 1921-1922 is 355,825. Of these approximately 250,000 have already come in, and approximately 105,800 are still admissible. Of the latter nearly all must be Germans, British, and Scandinavians. Immigrants from these countries in the past have proved themselves amenable to Americanization, and potentially good citizens. ADVENTURE OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts
The Green Wizard was so kind and did so many nice things for everybody that he was very popular. This made Twelve Toes, the Sorcerer, more angry and jealous than ever. So he called Light Fingers, the bad little fairy who worked for him, and gave him a good talking to. "You're not doing your work half!" growled Twelve Toes. "Whenever you see the Green Wizard doing anyone a good turn you must stop it. What's he doing now?" "Please, sir," said Light Fingers, "he's making some magic cough drops for Phil Frog. Phil Frog wrote him a letter and said he couldn't sing any pretty tunes as his voice was so hoarse. All he can say is ker-chug-a-hunk and he's tired of it, he says. So the Green Wizard is making him some magic cough drops so he can sing like a skylark or a nightingale. Nancy and Nick are waiting. When the cough drops are finished, off they'll go to Ripple Creek with them." "Hm!" said Twelve Toes. "That won't do."

So he went into his cave and returned with a box. "Take this," he said to Light Fingers, "and when the Twins are not looking, exchange it for the box of magic cough drops." Everything came to pass just as Twelve Toes wished and when Nancy and Nick left the package at Phil Frog's house, they never dreamed that it was not the one the Green Wizard had given them.

Phil ate a lot of the magic cough drops and then opened his mouth to sing. All the family gathered around to admire his new accomplishment. "Hee-haw, hee-haw, hee-haw," went Phil, for the drops Twelve Toes sent made him bray like a mule. "Goodness!" cried Phil in disgust, "I'll have to send word to the Green Wizard to give me back my own voice. It's quite sweet and musical beside this. I've learned a good lesson. It's best to keep the gift we have and be satisfied."

CURED HER RHEUMATISM

Knowing from terrible experience the suffering caused by rheumatism, Mrs. J. E. Hurst, who lives at 608 E. of synthetic chemistry turned toward him. The brochure startled the world. It proposed to adapt the luster and beauty of jewels to commercial uses. We were being content with crude imitation colors in our commercial glass, when we could quite as easily have the actual structure and the actual luster of the jewel in it. We were painfully hunting over the earth, and in its bowels, for stones which we hoarded and treasured, when in a manufacturing laboratory we could easily produce them, more perfect than nature, and in unlimited quantity. Now, if you want to understand what I am printing here about Rodman, you must think about this thing as a scientific possibility and not as a fantastic notion. Take, for example, Rodman's address before the International Congress of Science in Edinburgh, and you will begin to see what I mean. The Marchese Giovanni, who was a delegate to that congress, and Pastreux, said that the only thing in the way of an actual practical realization of what Rodman outlined was the formulae. If Rodman could work out the formulae, jewel-stuff could be produced as cheaply as glass, and in any quantity—by the carload. Imagine it; sheet ruby, sheet emerald, all the beauty and luster of jewels in the windows of the corner drugstore! And there is another thing that I want you to think about. Think about the immense destruction of value—lost to us so greatly for our stocks of precious stones are not large; but the thing meant, practically, wiping out all the assembled wealth of Asia except the actual earth and its structures. Put the thing some other way and consider it. Suppose we should suddenly discover that pure gold could be produced by treating common yellow clay with sulphuric acid, or that some genius should set up a machine on the border of the Sahara that received sand and a one cent and turned out solid gold what at the other end. What, then, would our hoarded gold be worth or the wheat-lands of Australia, Canada or our Northwest? The illustrations are fantastic. But the thing Rodman was after was a practical fact. He had it on the way. Giovanni and Lord Bayless Truxley were convinced that the man would work out the formulae. They tried, over their signatures, to prepare the world for it. The whole of Asia was appalled. The rajahs of the native states in India prepared memorials and sent it to the British government. The thing came out after the mysterious, incredible tragedy. I should not have written that final sentence. I want you to think, just now, about the great bulk of a man that sat in his big chair beyond me at the window. It was like Rodman to turn up with an outlandish human creature attending him hand and foot. How the thing came about reads like a lie; it reads like the wildest lie that anybody ever put forward to explain a big yellow Oriental following one about. But it was no lie. You could think up a lie to equal the actual thing that happened to Rodman. Take the way he died.

Every common, academic conception of such a monk he distinctly negated. He impressed me, instead, as possessing the ultimate qualities of clever diplomacy—the subtle ambassador of some new Oriental power, shrewd, suave, accomplished. When one read the yellow-backed court-record the sense of old, obscure, mysterious agencies moving in sinister menace invisibly around Rodman could not be escaped from. You believed it. Against your reason, against all modern experience of life, you believed it. There was one man in the world that everybody wished could have been present at the time. That was Monsieur Jonquille. Jonquille was chief of the Criminal Investigation Department of the Service de la Surete in Paris. He had been in charge of the French secret service on the front of the Shan states, and at the time he was in Asia. Another installment of the unusual mystery story will appear in our next issue.

Forty Club Gives First Formal Ball Of Winter Season

The first event of the season to be given by the Forty Club was the formal ball held at Patterson hall Wednesday night, when most of the members and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGray of Garrison and Harold Peifer of Underwood, out-of-town guests, were in attendance.

Autumn colors were used in decorations. A wild rose hedge of autumn leaves mingled with red roses, and tables lighted with gold and shaded candles enhanced the attractiveness of the tables, where dinner was served shortly after midnight.

The stage used by the musicians and the sides of the hall were half hidden with the autumnal decorations.

Tones of lavender and yellow were used in the dining room decorations. A perfectly appointed Thanksgiving dinner was served yesterday. The delicate glow from lavender and gold candles lighted the room. Beautiful flowers were used to complete the decorations in the living room.

Instant Quaker Oats

Cooks to perfection in 3 to 5 minutes

The Quaker Oats flavor has won millions the world over. This brand dominates wherever oat lovers live, for we make it from queen grains only.

Now there's a quick-cooking Quaker, made from those same queen grains. It cooks in 3 to 5 minutes. It is the quickest-cooking oats in the world.

The oats are cut before flaking. They are rolled very thin and partly cooked. So the flakes are smaller and thinner—that is all. And those small thin flakes cook quickly.

Say which you want. In either regular or instant you get the best flavor oat flakes ever had. In instant you get the quickest-cooking oat dish in existence.

There are now those two great reasons for insisting on this brand.

HERE IS A NEW KIND OF FORUM

coin, Washington, Lee and Roosevelt are each marked by a national speaker.
Hondini, the handcuff king, lectures before The Forum; Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., is to tell the story of the scuttled ships; General Fries is to tell what the new bombs are that will be used in the next war; Newman's travel talks are given; a great horticultural show is put on, and, most curious of all in a Forum, six bulls on a large scale, where 3,000 people can dance at one time to the music of two orchestras.
"Why dance in a Forum?" was asked Mr. Bok.
"Because," was the instant answer, "I consider it just as civic for young people to dance under the right conditions as for them to hear Senator Penner explain the latest bill before the Senate. One is just as important as the other."
City Appreciates Forum.
Imagine 75 events of the standard of those cited above, all for $15 a year, and one can realize why it is that a young woman recently refused to leave Philadelphia for a position in New York at a salary of $20 a week increase "because," she said, "I do not want to lose the Philadelphia Forum. It is like an education in my life."
Not content with its audiences of 3,000 and more, the Philadelphia Forum has just decided to broadcast its principal events by radio, and an available audience of from 500,000 to 600,000 persons will be added to the scope of its influence.
"Can such a Forum be established in a smaller city?" Mr. Bok was asked.
"Why not?" he answered. "That is out final dream, the Philadelphia Forum is to travel with six or seven smaller Forums in the smaller cities around Philadelphia. All supplied with their talent by the parent Forum. That is one way in which the smaller community can have a Forum where a large center is nearby and supplied by it."
Where the help of such a large city center be had then what was asked.
How Smaller Towns Use Plan.
Then a community can start a Forum of its own and cut its cloth according to its measure. But it must have a definite policy fixed first. A Forum need not necessarily be a discouraging body. Folks get tired of that. Let it be human and function in every phase of a person's life and tastes. A Forum program should be so comprehensive as to supply a complete winter's entertainment to a young couple of moderate means.

"Now, in a small community, you cannot, of course, set up a program of 75 events, and it isn't necessary. Begin with 10 or 15 events, but make them varied. Let two or three of them be dances, so as to attract the young people. If you want to educate or uplift the people, as a Forum should of course do, sugar-coat the pill.
"People don't want to be educated or uplifted all the time. They want to be amused and entertained, and the mission of making people laugh at clean, wholesome fun is just as great and needed as to inform them on the great events of the day. Mix up your events and show that the purpose of the Forum is human."
"Then," continued Mr. Bok, "don't get up a separate organization. We have too many organizations now, and half of them do not function. Let a community take three or four of the organizations which already exist: let these combine to conduct the Forum under their auspices by a committee of, say, two from each organization. Get up a budget that the community can raise, and then give as many of the best kind of entertainments at the lowest price as can be done.
"Through the Forum idea," concluded Mr. Bok, "you can also teach the public certain vital truths. For instance, punctuality. We begin sharp at 8:30, when the doors are closed and late-comers are refused admittance. This is a courtesy to your speaker. We never allow a speaker to exceed one hour. Then at 9:30 we have a half-hour question box, when anybody in the audience can send up a question for the speaker to answer. We have ushers go through the audience with pads and pencils. Then we close sharp at 10 o'clock.
"We also make our tickets non-transferable, and put our members on their honor to respect this point. Of course, here and there you find a man or a woman who is dishonest, but for the main part the contract is respected. You must do this because you necessarily must have a larger membership than your auditorium can seat so as to have a budget large enough to get the best events. You have to depend upon a part of your membership not attending by reason of absence, illness or other engagements.
Tickets Non-Transferable.
"We have 50 per cent more members than we can accommodate if they all came at once, and only once or twice during a season have we occasion to turn people away. But they understand the possibility of this when they join. Hence there can be no transferability of tickets, also you would have the equivalent of your entire membership at each event, and you could not begin to afford such a high standard or large list of entertainments."
While he is the creator of the Philadelphia Forum and one of its chief guiding spirits, Mr. Bok is not its president; he is simply one of the directors. Its by-laws provide for a new president to be elected each year.
"No," said Mr. Bok in explanation, "I prefer to work in the background. But a new president each year makes for a change and a new hand at the helm. And that is very important.
A monthly magazine is published in connection with the Philadelphia Forum: an excellent periodical, by the way, which is sent gratis to each member. Through this medium, the members are advised of the month's events a month in advance. The cost of the magazine is met by the advertisers.
There is only one paid official in the Philadelphia Forum: an executive secretary, who has a stenographer. Hence the "overhead" of The Forum is negligible. The officers and the board of 15 governors serve without pay.
Washington.—The administration now program for immediate financial relief to farmers was formulated at a conference here.

AT THE MOVIES

CAPITOL.
A photoplay that more than does justice to the splendid novel from which it was filmed is "The Mysterious Rider," Benjamin E. Hampton's photodramatization of the best seller by Kane Grey, the newest Hodgkinson release, which is presented at the Capitol theater tonight. A love story of compelling sweetness, powerful drama, mystery, suspense and intrigue; a sparkle of fun and humor throughout, and a great, thrillingly human theme at the base of it all—those qualities sum up "The Mysterious Rider."
Seldom has a better group of artists been assembled for a single cast than in "The Mysterious Rider," and certainly that cast has never been called in point of fitness for the various story roles.
Claire Adams, who is fast making an enviable record for herself as an emotional actress, plays the girl, "Columbine," about whose mysterious parentage and whose love struggle the story builds itself. Robert Kim, one of the most polished, subtle and powerful actors of either stage or screen today, is "Wade," the man whose life has been spent in a secret quest.
HANGED FOR WIFE MURDER
(By the Associated Press)
Walla Walla, Wash., Dec. 1.—James E. Mahoney, was hanged at the state penitentiary here today for the murder of his aged wife, Kate Moers Mahoney at Seattle in April, 1921. He was pronounced dead at 7:18 a. m.
The Mahoney case attracted wide attention in the northwest section of the Pacific territory. Mahoney was convicted of killing his aged bride and thereafter stuffing her body into a trunk and sinking the trunk in Lake Union near Seattle. The evidence against him was circumstantial.
Following his conviction and sentence, Mrs. Delores Johnson, sister of the condemned man, made a sworn statement that she had killed her brother's wife. This statement was discredited by the prosecuting attorney who conducted the case against Mahoney, and presentation of the alleged circumstances to the governor in an effort to procure clemency was unavailing.
Throughout the trial and the appeals Mahoney maintained he was innocent.

ROTHSCHILLER ARRIVES WITH RELIEF CARGO

In an article appearing in the "Bremer Nachrichten" for Nov. 9, appears an article telling of the arrival of Jacob Rothschilder, president of the Citizens Relief organization of North Dakota and a co-laborer of the Dairy Cattle company of Chicago, in Bremen, Germany, with a consignment of clothing, foodstuffs and money for Odessa, Russia.
It was stated in the article that while the cows were needed, the German central committee for foreign aid at Berlin urged the Dairy Cattle company of Chicago to turn these cows which had been collected into cash, since Germany at the present time was unable to furnish a steamer because of the low value of the mark. Deep appreciation was expressed by the German authorities for the aid extended.
"Let the people of America be assured that throughout Germany there is a sentiment of keenest thankfulness toward these faithful friends and benefactors—especially as at this time there is far more genuine suffering among us than ever before," are the concluding words.

PIONEER WHO HELPED BUILD STATE, PASSES

Barnabus Wilcox, Immigration Agent in Early Days, Dies of Heart Trouble

Barnabus D. Wilcox, aged 74 years, a pioneer of North Dakota, passed away at the home of Mrs. Mary Friedman, 307 Front street, yesterday morning at 6:10 o'clock. Mr. Wilcox was here for several weeks, and his death was the cause of his death. He was born in Granville, Ontario, Jan. 4, 1848. Mr. Wilcox came to North Dakota in 1877. He settled in Cass county and went into the real estate business. He brought many colonies of people from Canada, among them being many now prominent in the state, which is now Sheldon, Ransom county. Later he came to Bismarck and continued in the real estate business, going into business with the late Alexander McKenzie. The firm of McKenzie, Coffin and Wilcox had offices at the corner of Main and Fourth streets, where the Webb building now stands.

As immigration agent for the Northern Pacific railroad Mr. Wilcox made a trip to Europe in 1886. He was a close friend of the late Major Edw. J. Allen, editor of the Fargo Argus, and later American consul in Canada, and Mr. Wilcox was correspondent for the newspaper.

During his residence in Bismarck Mr. Wilcox participated in and witnessed many historic events. He was present at the golden spike celebration. He left Bismarck in 1883, having extensive enterprises in Idaho, and amassed wealth for a considerable time.

The death of Mr. Wilcox failed him about five years ago, when he returned to Bismarck. He had spent 13 weeks in the hospital recently but apparently had recovered fair health and was able to be about. The day before his death he was able to be on the street.

Mr. Wilcox is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. J. Volz of Port Orchard, Wash., who will be remembered as Pearl Wilcox; Peter F. Wilcox of Bismarck, a brother; Frank Wilcox, a nephew, and Mrs. D. J. McGillich, a niece.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 2:30 p. m. at the Webb Brothers funeral parlors, with Rev. P. O. Kietzmann officiating.

The deceased will lie in state at Webb Bros. Undertaking parlors tomorrow morning from 9 o'clock until funeral services are held.

Helen Gallagher Passes Away After Lingering Illness

Miss Helen Gallagher, the daughter of Mrs. Amelia Gallagher of 419 Second street, passed away at the family residence this morning at 2 o'clock after a lingering illness of several months. Miss Gallagher, who was 21 years of age, was stenographer for G. N. Keniston, secretary of the Bismarck Commercial club for a period of three years. In January, 1921, she resigned to take a similar position at the office of the state auditor. This she held until about three months ago when she was forced to resign because of failing health.

After coming to North Dakota with her parents in 1903, Miss Gallagher spent her entire life in the state, receiving her eight grade education in the district school and graduating from the local high school. After graduation she attended the Bismarck Business College, where she received her business training. She leaves a mother, a sister, Mary, and two brothers, Ambrose and Paul, to mourn her death. The remains will be sent to Minneapolis for burial.

John Wachtler Dies Of Blood Poisoning

John Wachtler Sr., age 65 years, passed away at a local hospital yesterday evening as a result of blood poisoning caused by infection from a slight cut on the finger while at work. The injury was so slight when it occurred that no attention was paid to it, with the result that infection took place. Mr. Wachtler who came to Bismarck about ten months ago has been employed at the Oscar H. Will nursery during the past summer. He leaves a wife and five children, two girls and three boys, Margaret, Elizabeth, Anton, John, and Peter to mourn his sudden death. The remains will be taken to Hebron where interment will take place.

REVIVAL NOW AT ITS BEST

Services at Methodist Church Reach High Water Mark Thanksgiving Day

By J. K. Doran.

The meetings in the Methodist church yesterday reached a very high mark.

First the union Thanksgiving services were well attended, various ministers of the city taking part and a good representation from the different churches.

The singing of the twenty third Psalm by Rev. Renshaw, accompanying his own production, was something unusual in the musical line and well received.

The sermon was preached by the Rev. L. R. Johnson and was suited to the occasion both as to the day itself viewed from a national and local standpoint and suited, also, to the revival services now being held in this church.

The meeting in the evening was attended by large numbers from the other churches and interest was very manifest in the direction of an intense revival, over a dozen seekers being at the altar.

The Evangelist in charge of the campaign Dr. George Bennard expressed himself very strongly and seemed especially pleased with the spirit of the various church people who had so ably assisted in the meetings and desired to express through the Tribune his thanks particularly to the pastors of the following churches: Rev. C. F. Struts of the Evangelical, L. R. Johnson of the Baptist, H. C. Fastelwetter of the Presbyterian and Ensign Homer of the Salvation Army and various pastors of the Methodist churches out side of Bismarck who had so ably aided as well as the various individuals.

The campaign was outlined and put into operation by the pastor and official board of the McCabe Methodist church but according to Dr. Bennard is much more effective as a union meeting than many planned union meetings and that the pastors and members of the sister churches deserved far more praise and thanks for their affiliation than would have been the case had they been under obligations, from agreement, before hand.

Tonight the Rev. Samuel B. Renshaw will give his experience in his passing from "stage to pulpit". This is to be known as young peoples' night and Rev. Renshaw will tell the young people of what is going on back of the scenes and will have a message for them and parents should listen carefully as things will be revealed that those in charge of young people should know.

Rev. Renshaw was on the operatic stage twenty years ago at a munificent salary for that time and left it for the precarious salary of a Methodist minister when converted. Come out tonight and hear his message.

As this is the last meeting for this week and the younger people are expected in large numbers it is very probable that Dr. Bennard will have something to say directly to them but at any event for their benefit.
